my story

seeking to grow in how I interact with God's word

How should Rahab's story shape how I approach and respond to God's word?

What impact do the accounts of God's mighty works have on my heart? (e.g. godly fear that leads to faith?)

Do I see God's plan as greater than my failures? Am I seeking to grow in His grace and knowledge?

How have I responded to what God has spoken about how my family and I can be saved eternally?

His story
