my story

seeking to grow in how I interact with God's word

How should Naaman's story shape how I approach and respond to God's word?

Has there ever been a command of God that I didn't expect or want to keep? How do I tend to respond in such situations? Is my response a godly one?

Have I ever been guilty of complicating what God has stated simply?

Do I ever allow my thoughts about the messenger to keep me from focusing on the message?
