Life Is A Gift

Today before you say an unkind word — think of someone who can't speak.

Before you complain about the taste of your food — think of someone who has nothing to eat.

Before you complain about your husband or wife — think of someone who's crying out to God for a companion.

Today before you complain about life — think of someone who died too early.

Before you complain about your children — think of someone who desires children but they're barren.

Before you argue about your dirty house someone didn't clean or sweep — think of the people who are living in the streets.

Before whining about the distance you drive — think of someone who walks the same distance with their feet.

And when you are tired and complain about your job — think of the unemployed, the disabled, and those who wish they had your job.

But before you think of pointing the finger or condemning another — remember that not one of us is without sin and we all answer to one Maker.

And when depressing thoughts seem to get you down — put a smile on your face and thank God you're alive and still around.
