Wisdom is where it all begins. The wisest thing you can do is begin serving our Lord today. We invite you to do that today with the Family of Christians at StoneRidge Church Of Christ, 514 Airport Rd, Jonesboro AR. 10 & 11 am & 6 pm.

What if God is more forgiving than we imagine Him to be?

His grace greater than we can portray it? His love deeper than we can express? How do we measure the "riches of His grace" (Eph 1:7)?

I do not ask these questions to cast doubt on what the Scriptures say about salvation. We can only teach what we have been given and we trust God is always faithful. I ask because our tendency is to limit God to the same level of abilities and thoughts that we have. If I can't conceive of forgiving, then how can God forgive? If I have difficulty understanding how to apply grace, maybe God has that same limitation. Not so, of course, and I doubt any of us would so argue.

What I know is that I do not have the same level of "riches" of grace that God has. I don't have the same ability to "lavish" grace as God does. The riches of my mercy and the greatness of my love do not begin to approach God's (Eph 2:4). His is far greater than my mind can comprehend. And the sending of Jesus to die for our sins is grand beyond expression.

We should know that God is always greater than our conceptions, bigger than our imaginations, and able to do what we are unable to think (Eph 3:20).

Be careful, then, how we frame God, His character, abilities, and thoughts. Any such boxes will but diminish Him in our eyes and create a god like us. That is not acceptable. Praise God for the riches of His grace and mercy which He lavishes on us through Jesus Christ! - Doy Moyer

You can tell what a man is by what he does when he hasn't anything to do.

We are always to busy to visit the sick, but never to busy to serve as a pall-bearer.
