Resorting to Prayer

“Give ear to my prayer, O God; and do not hide Yourself from my supplication. . . .”

I would hasten to my place of refuge from the stormy wind and tempest. Confuse, O Lord, divide their tongues, for I have seen violence and strife in the city. . . . Evening and morning and at noon, I will complain and murmur, and He will hear my voice” (Psalm 55:1, 8, 9, 17).

How did this writer go about resolving a life-threatening conflict? His plan is easily followed: He went immediately to God in prayer, thought the problem through in the attitude of prayer, gave what he could to God for Him to handle, and committed himself to trusting God for deliverance. What he could not do, he brought to God and left with Him; what he could do—for example, resolving to trust in God—he did do. The key thoughts in this psalm are “tragedy,” “prayer,” “righteousness,” and “God.” The godly man is the person, come what may. God will sustain him. The link between this righteous man and His God is righteousness and prayer.

Key Thought: The psalmist relieves his load of agonizing frustrations by leaving them at heaven’s doorstep. He, as a righteous man, has withdrawn into the closet of prayer, and found his solace in His God.
